Availability of Summary Benefit Information

As a participant in either the Standard HRA Plan or the Post-separation HRA Plan, the benefits available to you, as well as any limitations, are important. To help you understand the types of benefits provided and any applicable limitations, a Plan Summary and a Summary of Benefits and Coverage (SBC) are available, which summarize important information about your benefits. Please note, however, that the format and content in the SBC is required by federal regulation and is designed to apply to health insurance plans. Your HRA VEBA account is not a health insurance plan. Therefore, the SBC indicates that some of the information and defined terms are not applicable to HRA VEBA account(s). The Plan Summary is written to address specific information, such as Plan benefits, how to utilize your participant account(s), and your rights as an HRA VEBA Plan participant. The Plan Summary and SBC are both available online after logging in at hraveba.org or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org. Paper copies are also available upon request, free of charge, by calling our customer care center at 1-888-659-8828 (a toll-free number).

Instructions

Please follow the below instructions when enrolling in the HRA VEBA Plan. You must submit a fully completed and signed Enrollment form (enclosed) to become a participant and establish your account. A single Enrollment form will enroll you into either the Standard HRA Plan or the Post-separation HRA Plan, as directed by your employer when making contributions on your behalf.

- 1. Carefully read the informational materials contained in this HRA VEBA Plan Participant Enrollment Kit: HRA VEBA Plan brochure; Qualified Expenses and Premiums handout; Investment Fund Information brochure; and Investment Fund Overview (updated quarterly, inserted by your employer).
- 2. Fully complete and sign the Enrollment form: Follow the instructions checklist contained on the form to help ensure you complete your form accurately and entirely.
- 3. Return completed Enrollment form to your employer. Typically, your human resources, payroll, or employee benefits office accepts completed enrollment forms.

Welcome Packet

The HRA VEBA Plan will send you a welcome packet after receiving both your signed Enrollment form (or online enrollment) and the first contribution from your employer. Your welcome packet will contain confirmation of your employer's contribution, your participant account number, a Plan Summary, and instructions for online account access. It will also confirm to which HRA VEBA plan your employer has directed its contribution for you and whether you are claims-eligible. If you are not claims-eligible when you enroll, we will send you a claims-eligibility packet after receiving notice from your employer that you have become eligible to file claims.

Save Tax. Keep More.

hraveba.org

HRA VEBA Trust¹ offers two separate health reimbursement arrangement (HRA) plans: the Standard HRA Plan and the Post-separation HRA Plan. These plans have been adopted by more than 500 governmental employers in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho. Visit hraveba.org for more information.

Health reimbursement arrangement

A health reimbursement arrangement (HRA) is an account-based health plan you can use, after becoming claims-eligible, to reimburse your qualified out-of-pocket medical care costs as defined by the IRS. Common qualified expenses include co-pays, deductibles, prescription drugs, retiree insurance premiums, etc. An HRA is not an insurance plan, and you do not pay a premium. Your account is funded with contributions from your employer.

Employer contributions, investment earnings, and medical care reimbursements (claims) are tax-free and do not require any tax reporting. Your employer is not required to report HRA contributions on your IRS Form W-2. You should not report HRA contributions on your individual IRS Form 1040. You will not receive an IRS Form 1099 for any investment earnings or claims².

HRA VEBA Plan benefits

Benefits of becoming an HRA VEBA Plan participant include the following:

- You save money by paying zero tax on contributions, earnings, and reimbursements (claims)
- You can use your account anytime after becoming claims-eligible^{3, 4}
- You can choose how your account is invested
- Your legal spouse and qualified dependents⁵ are covered—even if you pass away
- Your unused account balance carries over from year to year
- You can accumulate funds in your account for future use, such as during retirement

Spouse and dependent coverage

The HRA VEBA Plan covers you, your legal spouse, and qualified dependents⁵. Generally, dependents must satisfy the definition of Qualifying Child or Qualifying Relative at the time such expenses were incurred to be eligible for benefits. To learn more, read the Definition of Dependent handout available online (log in to your account at hraveba.org and click Resources) or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828.

¹ HRA VEBA Trust was formed in 1990 and is a non-profit, multiple employer voluntary employees' beneficiary association (VEBA) authorized under Internal Revenue Code § 501(c)(9). HRA VEBA Trust is managed by a board of trustees elected by the plan participants. ² If you use a My Care Card to pay for a medical care item or service and do not submit proper supporting documentation as may be requested, we will issue an IRS Form 1099 to you, and the transaction amount will become subject to federal income tax. ³ Depending on your employer's plan design, account usage may be subject to vesting or post-separation coverage only.

⁴ If you have a participant account under the Post-separation HRA Plan and, after separating from service or retiring, become re-employed by the employer that made or is making contributions to that account, you will not be eligible to file claims to your Post-separation HRA Plan account for expenses you may incur while you are re-employed. ⁵ Your young adult children's expenses incurred through the end of the calendar year in which they turn age 26 are eligible for reimbursement.

HRA advantages

Like most public employees, you're probably struggling to cope with the increasing cost of health care. You may even risk becoming job-locked and forced to keep working instead of retiring because you can't afford to pay for retiree health insurance coverage.

An HRA is one of the best ways to cover your current and future out-of-pocket medical care costs for several reasons:

- Significant tax savings (both federal income tax and FICA taxes)
- No annual "use-it-or-lose-it" requirement
- No annual contribution limits
- Can be used to reimburse retiree medical premiums before and after age 65, including Medicare supplement and Medicare Part B and Part D premiums
- Does not require coverage under a high-deductible health plan (HDHP)

Coordination with HSAs and Medicare

Health savings accounts (HSAs): You can have an HRA and an HSA, and you can use either your HRA (if claims-eligible) or HSA to reimburse your qualified expenses (no ordering rules). But, if you have a claims-eligible HRA and want to become eligible to make or receive contributions to an HSA, you must elect "limited-purpose" coverage. Only certain dental, vision, and orthodontia expenses are covered while coverage is limited. You can switch your HRA account back to full coverage after you stop making or receiving HSA contributions (certain limitations may apply).

Medicare: Medicare is generally primary to your claims-eligible HRA account if you are retired or separated from the employer that made (or is making) contributions to your HRA account. If you are still working, your HRA is generally primary to Medicare unless you have elected limited-purpose coverage. To learn more, read the Who Pays First, HRA VEBA or Medicare? handout available online (log in to your account at hraveba.org and click Resources) or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828.

Premium Tax Credit

If you purchase insurance through a marketplace exchange and want to qualify for the Premium Tax Credit, you should (1) read the Facts About Premium Tax Credit Eligibility handout available online (log in to your account at hraveba.org and click Resources) or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828; and (2) consider whether you will need to first use up, limit, or waive your HRA VEBA Plan benefits.

How much will I spend on health care during retirement?

The cost of PEBB-sponsored medical insurance coverage for a retiree and spouse currently averages about $1,100 per month prior to Medicare Part B eligibility. After both parties become covered under Medicare Part B, the average cost may decrease to about $370 per month. The typical 60-year-old public employee and spouse retiring today may spend over $270,000 on retiree medical insurance premiums during their retirement years!

If you retire today at:

Projected cost of retiree medical premiums⁶:

Age 55	$352,000
Age 60	$278,000
Age 65	$184,000

⁶ These projections are based on current average PEBB-sponsored retiree medical premium amounts for public retirees in Washington; Oregon and Idaho public retiree medical premium amounts are similar. The basic assumptions are: (1) employee and spouse retire at age 55, 60, or 65 and live to age 84; (2) both parties enroll in a PEBB-sponsored retiree medical plan ($1,116/month current average); and (4) standard Medicare Part B premiums for both parties ($244/month current); and (5) annual inflation of 5% for PEBB retiree medical premiums.

Common funding sources

In most cases, your employer contributes funds that would otherwise be paid to you as taxable income. HRA VEBA Plan contributions are tax-free to both you and your employer. Contributions to tax-deferred programs, such as an IRA, 457, 401(k), or 403(b) plan, are subject to FICA tax, and federal income tax is only postponed until you make withdrawals (claims). HRAs are exempt from payroll taxes, federal income tax, and most state income taxes.

Listed below are several of the most common HRA VEBA funding sources. Keep in mind that IRS rules do not permit individual elections; all employee group members defined as eligible must participate.

- Mandatory employee contributions⁷
- Sick, vacation, personal, and other leave cash outs
- Part or all of a future pay raise or COLA
- Unused monthly benefit dollars
- Contribution after electing lower-cost medical plan
- Other eligible sources

Submitting claims

You can file claims at any time for qualified medical care expenses you incurred after you become and remain claims-eligible. Submitting claims (and proof of expense) using our mobile app, HRAgo, or online after logging in at hraveba.org, is recommended. You can also email or mail a fully-completed Claim Form (and proof of expense) as directed on the form. Standard processing time is five to seven business days from the date received. If you're not signed up for direct deposit, remember to allow additional time to receive your paper check in the mail. A list of common Qualified Expenses & Premiums is contained on page 8 of this enrollment kit.

QUICK TIP:
Sign up for direct deposit when you enroll. It's faster than waiting for paper checks in the mail.

You can set up automatic reimbursement of your qualified insurance premiums after logging in at hraveba.org or by submitting an Automatic Premium Reimbursement form.

Investment options

You can invest your account by choosing either one of two investment options. Option A: Choose a pre-mix allows you to select a pre-mixed asset allocation portfolio designed and managed by investment professionals. Option B: Do-it-yourself lets you build your own portfolio using any combination of available funds. Read the Investment Fund Information brochure beginning on page 10 of this enrollment kit for more details.

You can change your investment allocation up to once per calendar month. Net investment earnings (or losses) after fund management and plan administrative expenses have been deducted are credited tax-free to your account daily. Fund management fees vary by fund(s) selected and are listed on the Investment Fund Overview, which is updated quarterly and available online at hraveba.org or upon request from customer@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828. Fund fact sheets and prospectuses are also available online.

⁷ If you need to confirm how mandatory employee contributions (or other contributions) to the HRA VEBA Plan may affect your pension benefit, contact your employer or your state retirement system. ⁸ Example is for illustrative purposes only and will vary based on your personal tax situation. You should consult a professional advisor regarding your personal tax situation.

Plan designs

The main difference between the plans has to do with claims eligibility. Under the Standard HRA Plan, you can file claims at any time (subject to your employer's plan design). Under the Post-separation HRA Plan, you must first separate from service or retire from your employer before becoming claims-eligible. All other terms and conditions are the same.

You do not need to choose a plan. Your employer will automatically direct its contributions for you to either the Standard HRA Plan or Post-separation HRA Plan. Generally, this will depend upon your eligibility to enroll in your employer's qualified group health plan and whether you are actually enrolled in or covered by your employer's qualified group health plan or another qualified group health plan. It could also depend upon the terms of employer policy, collective bargaining agreements, or other factors that may be unique to your employer's HRA program or your employee group.

- Standard HRA — In most cases, your employer will direct its contributions for you to the Standard HRA Plan, so long as you are eligible to enroll in your employer's qualified group health plan and you (a) are enrolled in or covered by your employer's qualified group health plan or (b) attest to your employer that you are enrolled in or covered by another qualified group health plan. Your Standard HRA is considered to be "integrated" with your employer's qualified group health plan. Participants in the Standard HRA Plan can file claims at any time after becoming claims-eligible⁹.
- Post-separation HRA — Your employer will direct its contributions for you to the Post-separation HRA Plan if you are not eligible to participate in the Standard HRA Plan or if your employer utilizes the Post-separation HRA Plan for all eligible employees within your employee group. Participants in the Post-separation HRA Plan must first separate from service or retire before becoming eligible to file claims.

You should check with your employer if you are unsure about which plan design applies to you.

Customer care center

The HRA VEBA Plan's customer care center is ready to help if you have questions about your account, need forms, or have a claims or automatic premium reimbursement question. You can contact the customer care center Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Pacific Time.

Plan administrative fees

Plan expenses include claims processing, customer service, account administration, printing, postage, legal, consulting, local servicing, auditing, etc. To cover these costs, a monthly per-participant fee of $1.50 (if claims-eligible) or $0.75 (if not claims-eligible), plus an annualized asset-based fee of approximately 1.25%, is charged to your account. The monthly fee is waived if your account balance¹⁰ is more than $5,000. In addition, a 0.25% asset-based fee discount applies to any portion of your account balance¹⁰ in excess of $10,000. Your account value changes daily based on activity, which includes investment earnings/losses, contribution and claims activity, and assessment of the asset-based fee.

To the extent permitted or required by law, certain fees, taxes or other assessments payable to the federal government under health care reform law may also be deducted from participant accounts¹¹.

⁹ Depending on your employer's plan design, account usage may be subject to vesting or post-separation benefits only. ¹⁰ If you have more than one account, the balances in each account are combined when determining your eligibility for waived or discounted fees. ¹¹ The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) fee for the 2015-16 plan year is $2.17 per claims-eligible participant (the fee does not apply to spouses and dependents). The PCORI fee is pro-rated and deducted from claims-eligible participant accounts quarterly. The PCORI fee is imposed on all group health plans by federal health care reform and could increase annually through the 2019-20 plan year.

Becoming a participant

Typically, when you become eligible to participate and receive contributions, your employer will give you a HRA VEBA Plan Participant Enrollment Kit and ask you to complete and return the Enrollment form, which will be included with the kit. Your kit will also include important plan information, investment information, and notice of online availability of the Summary of Benefits and Coverage. You must submit a fully completed and signed Enrollment form to become a participant and establish your account¹². A single Enrollment form will enroll you into either the Standard HRA Plan or the Post-separation HRA Plan, as directed by your employer when making contributions on your behalf.

The HRA VEBA Plan will send you a welcome packet after receiving both your signed Enrollment form and the first contribution from your employer. Your welcome packet will contain confirmation of your employer's contribution, your participant account number, a Plan Summary, and instructions for online account access. It will also confirm to which HRA VEBA plan your employer has directed its contribution for you and whether you are claims-eligible. If you are not claims-eligible when you enroll, we will send you a claims-eligibility packet after receiving notice from your employer that you have become eligible to file claims.

Paper participant account statements are mailed in January and July. If you are signed up for e-communication in lieu of paper (recommended), you will receive quarterly email notification as soon as your statements are available for online viewing.

GO GREEN:

Sign up for e-communication to receive quarterly e-statement notifications, newsletters, and EOB notices by email. Check the box on your enrollment form.

e-Services

The HRA VEBA Plan offers several convenient e-services:

- Online account access—Log in at hraveba.org to manage your account online.
- Online claims submission—Submit claims and supporting documentation online after logging in at hraveba.org. It is easier than using a paper form. Plus, you will get your money back faster.
- HRAgo® (mobile app)—Keep track of your account on the go. Take pictures of supporting documentation and file claims right from your smartphone.
- My Care CardSM—Pay for medical care items and services directly from your HRA without first having to cover these expenses out of pocket, submit claims, and wait to be reimbursed. You may still need to submit supporting documentation for certain purchases, per IRS rules. You can elect a My Care Card when you enroll or by contacting the HRA VEBA Plan's customer care center. To learn more, go to hraveba.org, and click the My Care Card button.
- e-Communication—Go green! Elect e-communication and get email notices when your quarterly participant account statements and explanations of benefits (EOBs) are available online.
- Direct deposit—Sign up for direct deposit. It is faster and more convenient than waiting to receive paper check reimbursement in the mail.

Survivor benefit

If you pass away, remaining funds in your account (if any) may continue to be used by your surviving legal spouse and qualified dependents to reimburse their eligible medical care expenses and premiums. Surviving spouses and dependents enjoy the same tax advantages as participants.

In the unlikely event you pass away with an unused account balance and have no eligible survivors, the executor of your estate can spend down your account by filing claims for any unreimbursed medical care expenses you may have incurred prior to your death. Remaining funds (if any) after all final claims have been reimbursed may be used to reimburse medical care expenses incurred by your non-dependent heir(s). Medical care reimbursements paid to non-dependent heirs may be taxable.

¹² Failure to complete the required Enrollment form will result in the forfeiture of funds that would have otherwise been contributed on your behalf. IRS rules do not permit individual choice; all employees defined as eligible must participate.

Qualified Expenses and Premiums

Common examples

The below list of qualified expenses and premiums is not a complete list, but it does contain many examples of the types of expenses and premiums eligible for reimbursement from your HRA VEBA account. The most common include co-pays, coinsurance, deductibles, retiree insurance premiums (including Medicare Part B and Part D and Medicare supplement plans), and tax-qualified long-term care insurance premiums (subject to annual IRS limits).

Internal Revenue Code § 213(d) defines qualified expenses, in part, as “medical care” amounts paid for insurance or “for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body...” Expenses solely for cosmetic reasons generally are not considered expenses for medical care (e.g. facelifts, hair transplants, hair removal (electrolysis)). Expenses that are merely beneficial to your general health, such as gym memberships, are not medical care expenses.

Important notices

Proper documentation is required when requesting reimbursements. Submitting claims using our mobile app, HRAgo, or online after logging in at hraveba.org is recommended. You can also email or mail a fully-completed Claim Form (and proof of expense) as directed on the form. To learn more, read the How to File a Claim handout available online (log in to your account at hraveba.org and click Resources) or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828. Please note the following:

1. Only qualified expenses and premiums incurred after you become and remain a claims-eligible participant may be submitted for reimbursement.
2. If you are covered by a Section 125 healthcare flexible spending account (FSA), you must exhaust available FSA benefits before submitting eligible claims.
3. Qualified insurance premiums are reimbursable beginning with the month in which you become a claims-eligible participant.
4. IRS regulations provide that insurance premiums paid by an employer, or premiums that are or could be deducted from your paycheck pre-tax through your employer's Section 125 cafeteria plan, are not eligible for reimbursement. When requesting reimbursement of premiums deducted from your paycheck after tax, you should include a letter from your employer that confirms a pre-tax option for the deduction of such premiums is not available to you. Premiums deducted from your spouse's paycheck after tax may be eligible for reimbursement.
5. Automatic reimbursement of recurring qualified insurance premiums may be set up online after logging in to your account or by submitting an Automatic Premium Reimbursement form.

Regarding OTC drugs and medicines: To be eligible for reimbursement, federal healthcare reform requires that OTC medicines and drugs (except insulin and contact lens solution) be prescribed by a medical professional or accompanied by a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item or service to treat a specific medical condition. Thus, OTC medicines and drugs such as aspirin, antihistamines, and cough syrup must be prescribed. The prescription requirement applies only to medicines and drugs, not to other types of OTC items such as bandages and crutches.

Definition of dependent

Generally, dependents must satisfy the definition of Qualifying Child or Qualifying Relative as of the end of the calendar year in which expenses were incurred to be eligible for benefits. These requirements are defined by Internal Revenue Code § 105(b) and summarized below. To learn more, read the Definition of Dependent handout available online (log in to your account at hraveba.org and click Resources) or upon request from customercare@hraveba.org or 1-888-659-8828.

Qualifying child

A Qualifying Child is a person who: (1) is the participant's son or daughter, stepchild, or foster child; and (2) is a citizen, national, or resident of the U.S. or a resident of Canada or Mexico; and (3) either under age 26 at the end of the calendar year in which expenses were incurred or is permanently and totally disabled. Other individuals are subject to additional requirements.

Qualifying Child of Divorced or Separated Parents. A participant's child is treated as the dependent of both parents for the purposes of health plan coverage if during the calendar year in which expenses were incurred: (1) the participant's child is in the custody of the participant or their other parent for more than half the year; and (2) the participant's child receives over half of his or her support during the year from the participant or their other parent.

Qualifying relative

A Qualifying Relative is a person who: (1) is the participant's son or daughter, stepchild, foster child, or other relative as defined by the IRS (e.g. father, mother, brother, sister, niece, nephew, aunt, uncle or any other person (other than the participant's legal spouse) who lived with the participant all year as a member of the household if such relationship did not violate local law; and (2) will not be a Qualifying Child of any other person as of the last day of the calendar year in which expenses were incurred; and (3) received over half of his or her support for the calendar year from the participant; and (4) has a gross income for the year that is less than the maximum identified in IRS Publication 501; and (5) is a citizen, national, or resident of the U.S. or a resident of Canada or Mexico.

Which option is right for you?

Are you comfortable making your own investment decisions?

NO

Option A:

Choose a pre-mix. Select a pre-mixed asset allocation portfolio designed and managed by investment professionals.

YES

Option B:

Do-it-yourself. Build your own portfolio using any combination of available funds.

What you should know before choosing your investments

Asset allocation

Choosing the right combination of investments for your portfolio is called asset allocation. This is an important step that can help you reach your retirement goals. When you allocate your assets, you spread out your savings among stable value, bond, and stock investments in amounts that are reflective of your investment goals. Aggressive investors with long-term goals may prefer portfolios with more stocks, while more conservative investors are likely to use more stable value and bonds. As you build your investment portfolio, consider your personal situation. Your asset allocation decisions should be based on:

- When you will begin to file claims
- The amount of time you have to reach your goal
- Your own tolerance for risk
- Your other savings and investments

Determine your proper asset allocation strategy

Before making your investment decision, you should define your asset allocation strategy. A proper asset allocation strategy (i.e. choosing the right blend of asset classes for your financial situation) can help reduce risk and increase potential return over time.

What kind of investor are you?

Determining what kind of investor you are will help you define your asset allocation strategy. In other words, are you most interested in growing your account or preserving your account? If you are most interested in growing your account, you must be willing to tolerate more risk and accept potentially large fluctuations in value. Preserving your account generally involves less risk and should result in less fluctuation in value but with reduced potential for long-term returns.

What is your time horizon?

Your time horizon is the length of time until you anticipate filing claims. Investors with longer time horizons are often able to tolerate more risk; investors with shorter time horizons tolerate less risk.

Time is very important when determining your asset allocation strategy. Investments may increase in value over time assisted by the power of compounding, and time can help smooth the ups and downs of the financial market. Your asset allocation strategy should depend heavily on how much time you have until you expect to begin filing claims.

Risk vs. potential reward

Risk is generally thought of as the possibility of losing money on investments. If your investment's value fluctuates significantly down and up, and you make a withdrawal (claim) for a qualified medical expense during a down market investment period, you may experience loss. You also need to consider inflation risk, the chance that your investments will not earn enough to keep pace with the rising cost of living which, in this case, is increasing healthcare costs. Consider the following general principles of risk:

- Reducing one type of risk generally requires you take on more of another
- The higher the risk, the higher the potential for reward; the lower the risk, the lower the potential for reward
- The shorter the time horizon you have for investing, the more you should reduce investment risk

Importance of rebalancing

Over time, some of your investment fund selections may grow more quickly than others. Some may even lose value and cause your portfolio to become out of alignment with your original allocation percentages.

Rebalancing periodically redistributes the assets in your account to your most recent allocation percentages. This process aids in maintaining the level of risk you are willing to take and helps you achieve the goals and objectives of your asset allocation strategy.

Periodic rebalancing is optional if you choose to build your own portfolio under Option B: Do-it-yourself. The pre-mixed asset allocation portfolios under Option A: Choose a pre-mix are managed to stay on their respective target allocations. Each fund maintains its growth- or income-oriented asset mix; you never have to rebalance to keep your strategy on track.

Asset class

Asset classes consist of three general types: stocks, bonds, and short-term investments (stable value). Your overall investment strategy will help you determine what percentage you should allocate to each asset class.

Diversification

You've heard the old saying, "Don't put all your eggs in one basket." With investing, this is known as diversification. It's the process of spreading your money among different asset classes. Mutual funds are diversified. If you invest your money in a stock mutual fund, you will hold stock in many different companies. Even if a few companies perform poorly, their losses may be offset by companies that perform well.

No guarantees

Keep in mind that the use of asset allocation or diversification as part of an investment strategy does not guarantee a profit or guarantee against a loss.

Funds are not FDIC insured, are not guaranteed by a bank, and may lose value. Even the most conservative investment fund option may lose value.

Each fund maintains its growth- or income-oriented asset mix; you never have to rebalance to keep your selected strategy on track.

Which Vanguard LifeStrategy Fund is right for you?

The Vanguard LifeStrategy Funds are built to help you achieve any medium- or long-term goal. Other investment information

Contributions	Contributions received are allocated per your current investment allocation election on file with the Plan. If no investment allocation election is on file, funds will be allocated to the Stable Value fund.
Investment allocation changes	You may transfer among the investment funds as often as once each calendar month. You can make investment allocation changes after logging in to your account online or by submitting a completed and signed Investment Change form. Investment allocation changes are generally effective within two to three business days. If you have more than one account and submit an Investment Change form without entering a participant account number, your requested change will be applied to each of your accounts. If you do enter a participant account number on the form, your investment allocation change will apply only to the specified account.
Reimbursements	If your account is allocated among multiple investment funds, reimbursements (claims) from your account will be deducted proportionately based on your fund allocation election on file with the Plan.
Investment risk	The Stable Value fund is the most conservative fund choice. The remaining funds are invested in securities and bonds that will fluctuate in value on a daily basis, and withdrawals from these funds may be worth more or less than your original employer contribution. Prior to submitting your Enrollment form or Investment Change form to the Plan, please carefully review your selected investment fund choice(s). Should your investment objectives change, you should reevaluate your fund selection(s) and make appropriate changes. Remember, any investment that contains stock market investments entails the risk of loss. We must stress that investment returns, particularly over shorter time horizons, are highly dependent on trends in various investment markets. Thus, investing in stocks and bonds is suitable primarily as a longer-term strategy and should not be used by participants who will begin filing claims immediately.
Using multiple investment funds	You may use a single fund or multiple funds when building your own portfolio. You may choose only one pre-mixed portfolio. You may not choose both a do-it-yourself portfolio and a pre-mixed portfolio.
Fund management expenses	Fund management expenses vary from fund to fund. Each investment fund's expense ratio can be found on the Investment Fund Overview updated quarterly at hraveba.org , or by visiting each fund's respective website.
Investment advice	Please read this information carefully and consult with your personal financial advisor before making an investment decision. The trustees, plan consultant, and Trust service providers do not give investment advice.

Investment terms

Asset Allocation: An investment strategy with a goal of balancing risk and reward by investing a portfolio's assets according to an investor's predetermined goals, risk tolerance, and time horizon. Money invested is allocated among different asset classes that do not all react the same to events in order to meet the investment goals of the individual investor.

Bond: A debt investment in which an investor loans money to an entity (corporate or government) that borrows the funds for a defined period typically at a fixed interest rate. Bonds may also have variable interest rates. The bondholder does not have ownership rights to the bond issuer unlike a stockholder. Bonds offer a higher level of credit protection than stocks and therefore are a more conservative investment.

Capitalization: The collective market value of the stock of a corporation. The market price of a share of stock, multiplied by the number of shares outstanding, equals the market capitalization of a corporation.

Diversification: Mixing a wide variety of investments within a portfolio.

Large Cap: Refers to companies with a "large market capitalization," generally with capitalization valued at more than $10 billion.

Mid Cap: Refers to companies with market capitalization of between $2-$10 billion.

Mutual Fund: Investment vehicle made up of a pool of money collected from different investors to invest in securities. Mutual funds are operated by money managers who invest the fund's capital and attempt to produce capital gains and income for the fund's investors.

Principal Value: The amount of the original investment.

Prospectus: Document that provides details about an investment offering for sale to the public. Required by Securities Exchange Commission (SEC).

Rebalancing: The process of buying or selling assets in a portfolio to maintain the investor's desired levels of investment allocation between asset classes.

Security: An instrument representing ownership, a debt agreement, or the rights to ownership. Examples of a security are Treasury Bills, Commercial Paper, Certificates of Deposit (CDs), bonds, stocks, and derivative contracts.

Separate Account: A private investment account opened through a brokerage or financial advisor that is used to buy individual assets.

Stock: A type of security that signifies ownership in a corporation and represents a claim on part of the corporation's assets and earnings.

Time Horizon: The length of time over which an investment is made or held before it is liquidated.

Total Return: The actual rate of return of an investment over a given evaluation period, includes interest, capital gains, dividends, and distributions.

Volatility: Statistical measure of dispersion of returns for a given security or market index.

4 INVESTMENT ALLOCATION SELECTION

Select and complete OPTION A or OPTION B, but not both. If you make no selection, your entire account will be allocated to the Stable Value fund. You should carefully read the Investment Fund Information brochure available at hraveba.org or by contacting the customer care center. If you are already enrolled or have more than one participant account, any investment allocation you choose on this form will update your most current allocation already on file and will be applied uniformly to all of your accounts, unless your investment allocation includes reference to a specific account number(s).

OPTION A: Choose a pre-mix

Select and complete this option if you want your asset allocation portfolio designed and managed by professionals. Choose only one pre-mix. If you select multiple funds your entire account will be invested in the most conservative fund selected. Read the Investment Fund Information brochure available online at hraveba.org for more information.

The pre-mixed asset allocation portfolios are managed to stay on their respective target allocations. Each fund maintains its growth- or income-oriented asset mix; you never have to rebalance to keep your selected strategy on track.

	Fund Name	Risk	Target Allocation
<input type="checkbox"/>	Vanguard LifeStrategy® Income	Low-to-moderate	80% bonds; 20% stocks
<input type="checkbox"/>	Vanguard LifeStrategy® Conservative Growth	Moderate	60% bonds, 40% stocks
<input type="checkbox"/>	Vanguard LifeStrategy® Moderate Growth	Moderate-to-high	40% bonds, 60% stocks
<input type="checkbox"/>	Vanguard LifeStrategy® Growth	High	20% bonds, 80% stocks

OPTION B: Do-it-yourself

Select and complete this option if you want to build your own portfolio. Enter only whole numbers—no fractions. Your allocation must equal 100%. Allocations that are not whole numbers will be rounded to the nearest whole number. Generally, if your allocation exceeds 100%, the excess will be subtracted from your least conservative fund choice. If your allocation is less than 100%, the shortage will be added to your most conservative fund choice.

Rebalance my allocation percentages:

Quarterly Annually (end of each calendar quarter/year)

Rebalancing is an important feature that will redistribute your entire account balance according to your most recent allocation percentages on file. If selected, this option will continue until revoked online or via written notice to the Plan.
